

SPY Navigation

A Map and compass were essential tools for a spy
If you were searched, it was curtains if they were found on you.

Maps were concealed inside cloths or hollows in your shoes
Made of silk the maps were very thin, waterproof and flexible

Compasses came in many disguises

Most were simple magnetised metal

The swingers compass could be hidden in food or hollowed out objects

Or you may have had magnetised fly button

Or a razor blade that was floated on water

Miniature compasses were concealed in buttons, boots and studs